About the Estate:

In 1996, Martine PAGES and her brother Christophe MOLINIER, both Oenologists, decided to resume the family estate situated in Saint-Andre de Roquelongue heart of the Corbieres region. The region's basic wine variety black Carignan was predominant. They only kept the very old vines providing dark color but more supple wines in the best Boutenac terroir, and bought or planted some Grenache Noir, Mourvedre, Syrah, Merlot & Cinsault to make full-bodied, flavored and more delicate Red Wines or fresh juicy Rose Wines, or Grenache Blanc, Viognier, Chardonnay and Muscat on the most appropriate terroirs for the white Vins de Pays.

Nowadays, the Domaine la BOUYSSSE family estate represents a total of 40 hectares of vines (98.84 acres), spreading in numerous parcels among the "garrigues", on slopes and sunny hillsides delimited by old stone walls, little rivers, tiny forests of pine and olive trees. Half within the best Corbieres terroirs (including Boutenac), and the balance is devoted to the Aude Hauterive IGP production: Domaine la BOUSSYE Red, White & Rosé, and Chardonnay, Viognier & Merlot the single grapes.

All wines are ORGANIC Certified from 2013 Vintage, and from 2014 the vintage we are involved in final blending with Martine.

"Martine Pages of Domaine de la Bouysse ("bwees") makes us so happy. Not only are all of her wines delicious bargains, but she and her brother Christophe are the epitome of honest, hardworking folks who strive to make the best product possible without compromise. ### Tasting Notes:

Fresh, bright and zesty nose, on white flowers, summer's fruits and a great anise touch. The very warm 2015 vintage optimize the ripeness and palate, keeping the anise flavors and a subtle, brilliant Viognier expression, on guava, honey, orange blossom and acacia.
