About the Estate:

The origin of the Domaine goes back to 1677, when Edme Corty laid the foundations of a small estate in Pouilly. On the other side of the Loire, Andre Moreux bought his first vines in 1702 in Sancerre. Their love of wine straddles 300 years of history over 14 generations! The two historic estates were united in 1955 by the marriage of Jeannine Corty and Raymond Moreux, direct descendants of Edme and Andre. With vineyards in Les Loges of Pouilly-Fumé and Chavignol of Sancerre, brothers Julien and Arnaud Moreux lay claim to the most exceptional collection of terroir in the Loire.

A simple philosophy at CORTY Artisan: "Harmony between working the vines and their natural environment". Treatments are kept to minimum, with no chemical fertilizers, a rational nutrition of the soil to exacerbate the vine's physiology and its natural resilience. Vineyard work is done by hand, short pruning and de-budding whilst observing and respecting the flow of the sap.

In the cellar, ancestral knowledge and modern techniques are combined for the vinification process: Pneumatic pressing, and each parcel is vinified separately in thermo-controlled stainless steel tanks. All fermentations are spontaneous (no aromatic or pre-selected yeast). Each tank preserves its unique character and freedom of terroir expression. A full vinification process carried out and guided by the lunar cycle, including fining and filtration!

Corty Artisan "Silex" comes from a single 10 acre plot in Saint-Andelain, with a north west exposure. reputed as the best flint area of the Pouilly-Fume Appellation. Voluptuous, bright & fruit-forward on the nose, stony and savory. Superb.

Tasting Notes: "The silex cuvee has excelled the 2022 vintage, a gorgeous wine... It's so flinty and smoky on the nose, a nostalgic aroma, struck match & fine herbs. The fruit is pure, showing greengage, pineapple, gooseberry, green apple & lemon. It's right & linear, very tense in the mouth, with mouth-puckering and succulent acidity, with a supple relaxing of creaminess on the finish. Electifying, providing energy & lift." Nathalie Earl 95 Pts Decanter

Press Review: "This smoky white shows a singed edge, with a sleek profile to the flavors of apple, quince & finger lime. A textured mineral component adds depth, while warm hay & vanilla hints bring roundness. There's a bitter kick of white grapefruit pith on the finish." Kristen Bieler 90 Pts Wine Spectator
